Community Bank donates to Colonial Christian School Library

December 2008- Community Bank of Florida was pleased to make a donation to Colonial Christian School's Library. Principal Terry Morrissey has made renovating the school library her pet project and has been working to expand it the past several years. They have added 1800 books this year alone. Librarian Debra Morris has worked hard to ensure each book is clean, has a cover and is recorded in the system. She is also working on a video collection for students to borrow.

Colonial Christian School teaches students Kindergarten through High School. If you would like to make a contribution, or donate books, please call (305) 246-8608.
