Princeton Christian School Students Tour Community Bank

November 2008. Seventeen students from Princeton Christian School recently visited Community Bank of Florida for a walking tour. They started the tour in the Main Office Lobby. There they talked to Main Office Manager Christine Tejera about checking and savings accounts and visited the Safe Deposit Box area. Students were excited to be inside the vault and equated the Safe Deposit Boxes to ‘lockers.’ Then they visited Eric Caceres, Manager of the Electronic Banking Department, where they learned about ATM cards and online banking.

The group’s next stop was the Deposit Operations Department, where manager Samantha Ingalls discussed what a day in the life of a bookkeeper is like. The tour continued in the next building, where they visited Lynne Guadamuz and Lourdes Rodriguez of the Consumer Loan Department, where they discussed credit cards and loans.

The students were very inquisitive asking about how to get a loan, what it was like to work for a bank and one student even asked what FDIC stood for! Each student was given a goodie bag with an educational activity book, sports bottle and a piggy bank on their way out.
